DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-17, drawn to a process for the production of a carbon powder from rubber, classified in class 585, subclass 241.
- II. Claims 18-20, drawn to a carbon powder, classified in class 423, subclass 445R.
- III. Claims 21-27, drawn to process for the surface treatment of carbon material, classified in class 423, subclass 460.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made by another and materially different process, such as the production of carbon black powder using a hydrocarbon feed.

Inventions I and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as for the surface treatment of carbon black. The treatment may be done regardless of how the carbon was formed, so it is not dependent upon or related thereto. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Art Unit: 1754

Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are unrelated for a combination of the reasons above. Invention II is drawn toward a carbon powder, produced from rubber, while Invention III is drawn toward a method of treating carbonaceous char or powder, which may be different, to yield surface modification.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Roland Shubert on 22 April 2003 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
